RESOLUTION NO. 12-85

RESOLUTION OPPOSING COCONINO COUNTY'S REQUEST TO BE DESIGNATED A SINGLE COUNTY SERVICE DELIVERY AREA

WHEREAS, the counties of Navajo, Apache, Coconino, Yavapai, Mohave, and La Paz have formed a six county consortium (SIXCO) service delivery area for the Jobs Training Partnership Act, and;

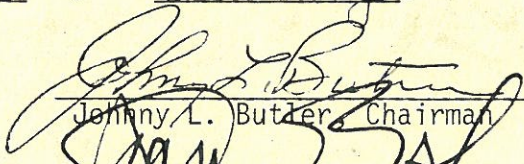

WHEREAS, SIXCO meets population and contiguous county requirements and is providing the desired service, and;

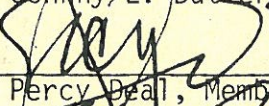

WHEREAS, SIXCO will become non-contiguous and have to be disbanded if Coconino County is designated a single county service delivery area.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Navajo County Board of Supervisors are opposed to Coconino County's request for single county service delivery area status, due to the adverse impact on the remaining five counties.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that if Coconino County's request for single county service delivery area status is granted then Navajo County also requests single county service delivery area status.

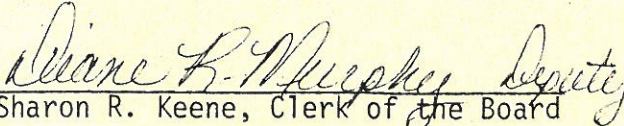

ADOPTED this 5th day of February, 1985

The Honorable Bruce Babbitt
Governor's Office

Dear Governor Babbitt:

The Navajo County Board of Supervisors are going on record as opposing Coconino County's request to be designated as a single county service delivery area. The counties of Navajo, Apache, Coconino, Yavapai, Mohave and LaPaz have formed a six county consortium (SixCo) service delivery area for the Jobs Training Partnership Act. SixCo meets the population and contiguous county requirements and is providing the required service.

If Coconino County is designated as a single county service delivery area, the remaining five counties will not be contiguous and will be unable to join together as a five member consortium. The formation of consortiums as a vehicle for the efficient and effective delivery of JTPA services makes good sense. Granting Coconino County's request could result in as many as six new service delivery areas which is not in the best interest of the six counties or the state. If Coconino County's request is granted then Navajo County must request single county service delivery area status.

In summary, the Navajo County Board of Supervisors are opposed to Coconino County's request for single county service delivery area status. Further, if Coconino County's request is granted, then this letter should be considered a formal request for Navajo County to be designated as a single county service delivery area.

Sincerely,

Johnny L. Butler
Chairman of the Board
